

Due to anatomical longitudinal ( $z$ ) component of optical  $z$  axis, locations  $b$  and  $o$  in the same optical cross section are in different anatomical cross sections.

